AFFI Hires Chelsee Woodey as Legislative Affairs Lead

McLean, VA – American Frozen Food Institute (AFFI) President and CEO Alison Bodor today announced the hiring of Chelsee Woodey as AFFI Vice President of Legislative Affairs.

“On behalf of the American Frozen Food Institute, I am pleased to welcome Chelsee Woodey as the lead in AFFI’s legislative affairs efforts, said Bodor. “Chelsee brings a wealth of knowledge and experience in working to educate members of Congress on policies important to the food and beverage industry. Chelsee’s mission will be to strengthen the understanding and value of the frozen food and beverage industry with law makers while ensuring that AFFI’s member companies are informed and engaged on key policy issues.”

Woodey most recently served as Director of Legislative Affairs of the International Dairy Foods Association, which allowed her to develop strategies for nutrition and labeling, the Farm Bill, trade, transportation, food safety, and immigration.

Prior to serving as Director of Legislative Affairs, Woodey served as a legislative aide to Senator Jim Bunning (R – KY).

In accepting the position, Woodey said, “I am excited to join the excellent leadership team at AFFI and look forward to representing the interests of the frozen food and beverage industry within the halls of Congress as well as with other food trade associations, interest groups and coalitions.”

Woodey holds a bachelor’s degree in World Politics and Diplomacy and vocal performance from the University of Richmond.
